

SUSTAINABILITY REPORT

2019/2020

Terre Cevico's strategy and SDGs ("Sustainable Development Goals")

Within a more general scope, a sustainable development business model also calls for a commitment to contribute to the 2030 Agenda of the United Nations and the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) that are an integral part thereof.

The realization of a sustainability strategy requires actions. The SDGs and the related 169 targets represent a tool that allows one to verify and measure over time the appropriateness of the Company's strategy.

Terre Cevico's 2021-2024 business plan has been prepared in line with the SDGs and with the economic, environmental and social commitments that the 2030 Agenda demands to businesses.

Guide to the Report

The Sustainability Report of Terre Cevico Soc. Coop Agricola (henceforth, “Terre Cevico”) includes the information relating to economic, environmental, and social themes, as well as that of governance, that the Company deems useful for favouring a better and more complete understanding of the activities carried out by Terre Cevico, of its performance, results, and of the impact produced by these activities. The Sustainability Report has been drafted based on the methodologies and principles contained in the GRI Sustainability Reporting Standards. In particular, Terre Cevico has adopted the GRI-Referenced option outlined in the “Global Reporting Initiative Sustainability Reporting Standards” (“GRI Standards”), using reporting standards as defined in the “GRI Standards: 101 Foundation”. The sustainability information relates to the “topic specific standards” listed in the GRI Content Index, allowing the traceability of the indicators and other quantitative and qualitative information disclosed in the report. TERRE CEVICO

In the 2019-20 financial year, the B.io line consisted of around 4,250 hectolitres, with a turnover of almost 1.7 million Euro, which, considering the difficulties in exporting that were evident in the first few months of 2020, is a result that confirms the validity of the choices we made and consolidates the success of this segment.

A study was launched in the first six months of 2020 to rethink the packaging of the bottles for the B.io. wines. The initial hypothesis was to look for a container that was even less impactful than the current one, which already had a label of organic “cotton paper”. The solution adopted was the substitution of the label with a screen print directly on the glass.

ORGANIC WINE SALES AND GOALS

ENVIRONMENTAL AUTHORISATIONS

All of the Terre Cevico production units and those of its member wineries possess environmental authorisations with regard to the recycling of water into the drainage systems, in compliance with Regional and national regulations.

Great attention is devoted to the disposal of water resulting from the industrial processes, including its classification and to the a commitment to reducing the total amount of waste-water.

C4G RECYCLING

As regards paper recycling, Terre Cevico is a partner of C4G Recycling in seeking to reduce wastepaper in a proactive manner: in 2019 the Cooperative recycled 36 tonnes of silicone paper, thus preventing 73 tonnes of CO<sub>2</sub> emissions.

ELECTRICITY

In 2019 Terre Cevico concluded its programme for obtaining ISO 50001 (“Energy management systems – Requirements and guidelines for use”) certification. Since 2011, on the roof of the warehouse at Lugo, a plant has been operating with photovoltaic panels, with a peak power of 177 kW; this self-generated electrical energy is entirely used for the internal consumptions.

WASTE MANAGEMENT

All of Terre Cevico’s waste generated is sorted and recycled whenever possible. The waste packaging materials are collected and sent separately for recycling, with environmental impact that is close to zero Lenzing Papier also certified (C4G Recycling Certification) in 2019 recycling by Terre Cevico of 36 tonnes of silicone-coated release paper. The assessment of the supply chain takes into consideration sustainability policy: an example of is is the consolidated relationship with Tetra Pak®.

WATER

Systematic checks are carried out on the wastewater sent to the purification plant (the amount of water purified in the two units at Lugo and Forlì is 146,431 m<sup>3</sup>, of which 55,000 derive from rectifying and concentrating must), with the aim of reducing the residues it contains; Terre Cevico’s target is a reduction of around 20%.) .

The decision taken by Terre Cevico and its associated wineries has been to begin a programme of improvement as regards the management of wastewater. Up until now, this has always been correctly managed, but without any research for the possible ways of improving it further.

The current campaign of characterization of such waste represents the first, vital step towards a programme for optimizing water management. A precise and accurate chemical and physical analysis of wastewater in fact allows Terre Cevico to have the necessary elements for determining what treatments to carry out on such water before it is reintroduced into the public water system.

PACKAGING AND SUSTAINABILITY

Despite the trend of marketing strategies that earmark organic products only for an elite clientele, Terre Cevico has opted to sell “popular” products that are within everyone’s means. The result of this policy is Sancripino bio, a wine in Tetra Brik cartons, which is sustainable even in its packaging, produced by Tetra Pak®, the leading packaging company that is particularly attentive to recycling materials and has subscribed to the RE100 (Renewable Electricity) initiative, committing itself to the use of 100% renewable electrical energy in its production.

Terre Cevico's accounts for 2019/20 confirm it as one of Italy's major wine-producing companies: a profit of 578,817 Euros, with exports that have grown to 52 million Euros out of a consolidated turnover for the whole of the extended group (Terre Cevico, Le Romagnole, Cantina dei Colli Romagnoli, Consorzio Le Romagnole due, Due Tigli, Rocche Malatestiane, Sprint Distillery, Winex, Tenuta Masselina, Montresor and Medici Ermete & figli) of 159 million Euros.

The 'Teatro No Limits' national social responsibility project and Due Tigli-Terre Cevico. Terre Cevico's contribution, thanks to the sales of Sancripino cartons, allowed 1000 visually impaired spectators to take advantage of the audio description of performances.

Cooperation with European twinning projects with the Municipality of Imola and Istituto Scarsabelli: support and hospitality for the guests.

Promotional activities for the Archaeological Museum at Sarsina and for the Plautus Festival by means of the Galassi Vini project, of which the schools and the Centro Diego Fabbri of Forlì were protagonists.

Supply of materials and sanitizers for the schools of the area in which Terre Cevico operates.

Terre Cevico's commitment to supporting cultural initiatives in its area is a continuous one. Usually concerned with scholastic, social and sports-related initiatives, this year the Group's efforts have been focused on the six months characterized by the advent of COVID-19.

Here is a list of the principal initiatives:

- A donation of 20,000 Euro to the Hospital at Lugo in the Province of Ravenna, destined for the construction and organization of infrastructure for the COVID emergency.
- 15,000 face masks sent by Terre Cevico to its client Quin Dao in Beijing as a contribution towards combating the epidemic (January 2020).
- Terre Cevico donated 1000 diagnostic kits to the Romagna Local Health Authority (March 2020).
- A container building was purchased thanks to the contribution of Terre Cevico by the Municipality of Fiastra in the Marche, destined as an aggregational and recreational facility for the community, which was hit very hard by the earthquake in 2016.
